

Speak American Standard

In:aviate

Undress the sound,
Hear them sing your praise?
They wear the same face.
But they bear a separate state of mind.
As time passes by,
We feel safe too soon.
And we lose faith in the truth.
You turn water into wine
When you give them something to believe in.
In place of things meant to deceive them.

The danger of affair,
The assurance of love,
I'm an opportunist
If you're a lush.
I want to live the life,
But what's the life to live?
What's the life, to live?

Different than pictures depict.
A perfect smile with tasteless lips.
White lies write the script,
And rob me of my innocence.
Oh, the luxury!
You smile like you keep,
The best kept secrets.
Conjure up the images.
You give them something to believe in.
In place of things meant to deceive them.

The danger of affair,
The assurance of love,
I'm an opportunist
If you're a lush.
I want to live the life,
But what's the life to live?
What's the life, to live?

The danger of affair,
The assurance of love,
I'm an opportunist
If you're a lush.
I want to live the life,
But what's the life to live?