

Sacrifice the Hands for the Sake of the Heart

In League

Trapped, inside, but you're not letting go
Of what you thought was so perfect,
Pack your bags were getting out
Just follow my voice

Break down the walls to make a noise,
You break down the walls to make a noise

Far be it for me to walk out the door
If you're looking for answers
Have you tried in your own head?

This time I believe,
It's you're time to shine,
No one will hold you down

Cut down, broken and tied in
You've been perfecting
The science in lying
You lost when you thought,
They'll never go, never go

The past has gone,
It's set in stone,
We both know it all too well

Things we said, just don't make any sense
When every action turns the table on verbal intent
And I want to be free

From carelessly believing you live for me

I know that things look bad,
But trust me one door will close,
Another will open
I promised you so much more
And I intend on keeping that with me

Cut down, broken and tied in
You've been perfecting
The science in lying
You lost when you thought,
They'll never go, never go