Something 'bout April that makes me come alive May have been the winter that made my heart so still It must have been, must have been What wakens us all to wonder I don't really know But the best days of my life are the ones I spent with you So continue to surprise me Baby, I'll do the same for you No, I won't question why it feels so good I'll let the mystery be As long as it's you As long as it's you Anytime, anywhere, I don't care Just as long as it's you Thank you for your understanding 'Cause I know my love can be so demanding (I know that I can) Yes, I know that it means so much to you Baby, when I treat you right and I'm holding you tight Tears of joy come to your eyes like stars about to fall Continue to still want me the way I still want you I won't question why it feels so good I'll let the mystery be
