

About a hundred years ago now, thought I was left for dead.
Soliloquy, she was my...
A picture, a wake,
my metaphoric friend.
So then I fell in love with an irony named life, it taught me this from that and... a picture, a wake, you're gonna be hilikus.
History has a tendency to block you out the popular beliefs about the leaders of the time, so glisten with my syllables and
ponder the thought, maybe they should have had to dedicate more to it, go!
You've got to be,
so good to be,
You've got to be HILIKUS!
So I took a walk out side with my new found friend and the knowledge imbibe.
I figured I'd find another with the same attitude, yes, then maybe I could talk to someone other than myself!
The doors are swinging wide open, a positive attitude and the ilk in my pocket had a lot to do with my new found friend, the hilikus.
History has a tendency to block out the popular beliefs about the leaders of the time, so glisten with my syllables and
ponder the thought,
maybe they should have had to dedicate more to it, go!
You've got to be,
So good to be,
You've got to be HILIKUS!
