Smile Lines

Met my match today Felt the blood rushing and mingling A curious and enigmatic thing Spiders in my dreams Synchronicity weaves like a web When you were meant to be a meal I want you bad! I want you bad! I understand why they say high school never ends Never act my age You can tell by the lines in my smile That I have been around for awhile So, insecurities Are about as useful as trying To put the pin back in the grenade I want you bad! I want you bad! I understand why they say high school never ends I want you bad! I want you bad! I understand why they say high school never stops This isn't coincidence There's no such thing This isn't coincidence, no This isn't coincidence It's no such thing. This isn't, no I want you bad! I want you bad! I understand why they say high school never ends

Incubus