Always in My Head

India.Arie

You're like a cool breeze, on a summer's day You are a river running through the desert plain You are my shelter, from the pouring rain You were my comfort, even before the pain

I can hear the sound of five drummers in the wind The leaves blowing in the breeze, ring out like guitars A tin can rolls across the gravel like a tambourine I am but a vessel, so I sing, because you are

In my head, you're always in my head In my dreams, you're always in my head In my pain, you're always in my head In my peace, you're always in my head

A rainbow of rhythm stretches across the sky An airplane in the distance, plays a beautiful cello line It's no coincidence; it's in tune with the music in my head If you were a shoulder you're where I would rest, but I am your vessel so I hear, you

In my head, you're always in my head In my fears, you're always in my head In my joy, you're always in my head In my tears, you're always in my head

You're like a cool breeze, on a summer's day You are a river, running through a desert plain You've been my shelter, from the pouring rain You were my comfort, even before the pain:'cause I hear you

In my head, you're always in my head In my dreams, you're always in my head In my pain, you're always in my head In my peace, you're always in my head

In my head, you're always in my head In my fears, you're always in my head In my joy, you're always in my head In my tears, you're always in my head
