

One More Night

Inhabited

I-I just read your letter and
I can't tell you how I feel
I wish I could make everything okay
But I know, that I'm miles and miles away
But I'll be on my face for you
Praying that the sun will shine again.

She'll spend more one night on a dirty floor
Waiting one more day to run out the door
And she's hoping and praying and searching for something
There's gotta be something more.

When-when you're feeling all alone
And everything you've ever known
Leaves you stranded,
Get out now,
No place to go,
When you feel confusion take your hand,
You want to bleed to heal your pain
Look up now, the truth will set you free.

She'll spend more one night on a dirty floor
Waiting one more day to run out the door
And she's hoping and praying and she's searching for something
There's gotta be something
Gotta be

She'll spend one more night on a dirty floor
When you feel like you can't take anymore
Hold on, hear me, you're not a mistake
God has been there before you.

And you feel
And you feel
And if only you can take
When you're all mixed up inside
You can't tell the truth from the lies
When you cover up your face
Cause they're screaming at you and at you.

And I'm praying
One more night on a dirty floor
Waiting one more day to run out the door
And she's hoping and praying and she's searching for something
There's gotta be something
Gotta be

She'll spend one more night on a dirty floor
When you feel like you can't take anymore
Hold on, hear me, you're not a mistake
God has a plan for you.

One more night
One more night
Hoping and praying
There's gotta be something
You're not alone

You're not alone
One more night
One more night
