Fool

Inkubus Sukkubus

Was she too much to resist Those lips a thousand others have kissed Were you too weak at the touch of her flesh Did you drown in her eyes of death?

You were but a fool But now you know better You were but a fool Now forget her.

Were you in love with love Did she put some fire in your blood Did she take you to a higher place Did her scent drive you insane?

You were but a fool But now you know better You were but a fool Now forget her.

You touched her flame And you burned You are but a fool With a lesson learned.