

Bury Me Deep Beneath Your Skin

InMe

As you mindlessly splatter paint upon the canvas something beautiful reveals itself
Stand up straight with your chin up towards the sun. (towards the sun)

Fight for it
Cherish it
Or let it fall apart and perish with it.
Live it Breathe it
Give it Believe it!
Bury me deep beneath your skin

We were not expecting you, but you are always welcome to believe in the make believe
The secret's hidden up your sleeve
Running uphill is a struggle but if you hold onto that which you're most ardent about the rewards will be eternal.
I don't wield a blade and I don't play games

What if I had told you? (that night)
Would you ever have walked away?
What if I told you I was sorry?
Bury me deep beneath your skin

Time will tell, what will become of me
All this time we were searching for infinity
Choose your path, find your own affinity
And dig me out from beneath your skin

What if I had told you (that night)
Would you ever have walked away?
What if I told you I was sorry?
Bury me deep beneath your skin

Time will tell, what will become of me
All this time we were searching for infinity
Choose your path, find your own affinity
And dig me out from beneath your skin.
