

What We Will Never Know

Innerpartysystem

Stare into the sun
To see my face for once
All the weakness shows
Too tired to lift the arms
That hold onto the stars
That watch me as I sleep

I want to believe in someone
I want to believe in something
But I want to believe that I can
Love again

The fire came and went
And took everything away
The bruises never healed
So I try to take a breath
To say what wasn't said
But there is nothing left of me, now
There is nothing left

I want to believe in someone
I want to believe in something
But I want to believe that I can
Love again

And one day, you will love again
You will! But I can't.

Look into the earth
To find out where you went