

Synthetic Flower

Innocens

More colors than black and white
Coloured earth we're walking on
Things I never saw, never said, never felt
Strange our behavior it's not the same
The time have betrayed me again
Wings I never had, never get, never let me raise

For what we are living for
Period of deepest nights and brightest days
For moments that never came
For what we are dying for
Painting the life by our true colors
Then all of us will sleep an endless dream

Give me strength now I'm so weak
Wafted by the wind like leaf
How could reach the moon above
Crucify the love with love
Such a shame we had a deal
Life for lust and bad for real
Die to give a birth again
Like a wizard calling rain

More colors than black and white
Colored earth we're walking on
Things I never saw, never said, never felt

For what we are living for
Painting the life by our true colors
Then all of us will sleep an endless dream
