

Sunderance

Intronaut

The voice has always been here,
But is never heard
Loud cries drowned by the rain
Overcome by the wind

A shared breath, a world apart
The missing pieces are all that's left

Slipping away

Time is too fast to catch,
And too slow to forget