It All Stops Here

I can feel the movement Growing all around me everywhere I can hear the language of the revolution every day If you pledge to join me We can fight for reason everywhere All the things we wished for Are ours for the asking anyway Many years ago we lived here All too soon our hopes were drowned Now as if I never knew you Life goes on in different towns And I can walk round you, past you, through you Because you're only ghosts now Yes, I can walk round you, past you, through you Because you're only ghosts now Somehow in this silent city A little of us still remains Mingled with the distant laughter Fused with dust in future rains And I can walk round you, past you, through you Because you're only ghosts now Yes, I can walk round you, past you, through you Because you're only ghosts now
