

Whatever

Iris

It's simple but I hesitate to ask
A second of your time to tell you how
I came to be so hard on all of us
By turning every meaning inside out

I know it's a shame
All my shifting the blame
It feels like the love
And the anger are one
And the same

Whatever you want
I'm giving you one more thing
That'll turn your world around
Since our meanings have gone
You'll still be the one who understands

Last night I had
A once in a life understanding of all
I'd tell you but it doesn't mean a thing now
Can't you take what I've done
Make it work for someone?
