

Cry-baby

Iron Chic

There's a shiver running down my spine
I've got half a mind to break the laws of space and time
(And one day we'll scream it)
Right here from the the top of the world
(Someday we'll mean it)
You can see my house from here
We've seen better days
When all is said and done we can't complain
There's a song that's running through my mind
There's a range of things I think about but can't define
(And one day we'll scream it)
When we take over the world
(Someday we'll mean it)
We can ruin everything
