

Lord Of The Labyrinth

Iron Fire

Through the ancient forest, the home of the elves
Dark magic wonders will rule the old woods
My enemies are many, but my sword will prevail
The crimson warrior on the path of doom

Strong and brave rise up from beyond
A hero's quest the story has just begun

Riding through thunder - through wind and through rain
Approaching the castle of judgement in vain
Only one will hold the crown and the ring
And bring the fall of the goblin king
'cause you know he is the lord of the labyrinth

Face the mighty snow lord, the keeper of the cold
Ride the wings of thunder of the unicorn
Fight the slimy creatures that hide in the deep
The wizard's spell will guide you through the bloody fields

Strong and brave rise up from beyond
A hero's quest the story has just begun

Riding through thunder - through wind and through rain
Approaching the castle of judgement in vain
Only one will hold the crown and the ring
And bring the fall of the goblin king
'cause you know he is the lord of the labyrinth

Don't know where to go or where to turn
'cause every where you go, your path will burn
Don't know where to go or where to turn
'cause every where you go, your path will burn

Strong and brave rise up from beyond
A hero's quest the story has just begun

Riding through thunder - through wind and through rain
Approaching the castle of judgement in vain
Only one will hold the crown and the ring
And bring the fall of the goblin king 'cause we are
Approaching the castle of judgement in vain
Only one will hold the crown and the ring
And bring the fall of the goblin king
'cause you know he is the lord of the labyrinth