Hold the Light

Another door is there, another way To find the destiny of my life You've got to understand That life is just a hard reality We pay the price. Let me dream of a brave new world Let me dream of a heart without fear I don't wanna be prisoner I will break this masquerade of life Now, I can feel free.

Hold the light, dance into the fire Hold the light we will fly much higher Hold the light, dance into the fire Hold the light we will fly much higher

Another chance to win, believe in yourself Just try to stay alive and you'll be so proud You've got to find the key And try to realize that the other side Will be so nice. Let us dream of a brave new world Let us dream of a heart without fear We don't wanna be prisoners We will break this masquerade of life Now we can feel free.

Hold the light, dance into the fire Hold the light we will fly much higher

We will break this masquerade of life Now we can feel free.

Hold the light, dance into the fire Hold the light we will fly much higher Iron Mask
