

Her Monologue

Issues

Being alone are you scared of being alone, worried you'll be a shadow terrified of getting old

Insomnia tapers your eyelids and the aderol taught you how I lived
So flip a coin for every shade of gray
I bet you pick a needle to bargain with Heads I bet you fall asleep,
Get tangled in the sheets,
Suffocate as you choke at the though of your own dreams,
You never fail to feel hollow now hush and let the dark swallow

Move a little closer, what are you afraid of
Set the night on fire, baby burn it up
Tattooed on your chest, I.S.S.U.E.S
Move a little closer, what are you afraid of

Zanies and panties on the floor,
To numb the pain
Another one night stand at the door you go insane

I can see you sleep through your bedroom window You're killing yourself with lucid dreaming

I'm manic depressive
Flipping coins for my fate
Ain't that impressive,
Tails you never fail to feel hollow now hush and let the dark swallow

Move a little closer, what are you afraid of
Tattooed on your chest, I.S.S.U.E.S
Move a little closer, what are you afraid of

I'm manic depressive
Flipping coins for my fate
Ain't that impressive
