

By a Feeling

Ivanhoe

Woke up late, hey morning sun can't remember, right or wrong still hear your steps come through the floor
self-control, one foreign word I cry after the laughing, I heard you close the door and walk away

Side by side and year by year I watched your shadow disappear I'm isolated, - nevemore

For a moment
I felt so strong
not a hero
I never thought,
I could go wrong

By a feeling
defend your love don't walk away
by a feeling
I'm torn inside there is one way more than eyes can ever see in both our minds one memory can we ignore emotions? no, we can't

You're my heart, my soul, my mind another you, I'll never find so please forgive me, I was blind

For a moment
I was wrong
no more heroes
now I see our hearts belong (together)

Oh I hear the sirens now I know what I'm livin' for through the lies -
I am wandering
through the lies -
I close the door

Open all night,
two separate lives
who cries for the children of the night
who lives near the sun who's the only one,
breathe the freedom now messages from the old emotions cold
tell me why!