

Visions of a healed world
Summerwinds and snow
We should take care and yes we must share our place on earth

I know that you will fall behind to stay unseen
The strangest thing you do is searching for a loosing streak
The world we live in is only measured by our science
The way we live goes on like this an ocean full of lies

Can you imagine what I feel
When all the raging thoughts never cope with your will Immaculate decisions
your customer's delight
No human agenda
a mockery for your life

Nobody will, nobody will face the light
They're tired of fights
Nobody talks, nobody cares what's right
They all leave in the night

I care too much what you say
And what I've been told
I know that you won't look into my eyes
If I cried

I know that you would die to get a piece of love
But all you do is walkin' to security and laws
And as you travel by ship across the sea
There's nothing more than dollars for your rational relief

Can you imagine what I feel
When all the raging thoughts never cope with your will Immaculate decisions
your customer's delight
No human agenda
a mockery for your life

Nobody will, nobody will face the light
They're tired of fights
Nobody talks, nobody cares what's right
They all leave in the night
