A Distant Light

Ivory Tower

I don't know why I have to look at the sky Always strive to reach that high

I don't know why everybody tries to fly Do we need to be so high

From all directions the warnings are drawning near Close to the bring of ruin

It's getting dark and lost souls
Don't know where they belong
Or where they are
Or where they're from

But somewhere there's a distant light It's warm and nothing shines so bright The moment is now to realize No hope anymore when the light burns out

The spring of fame everyone is searching for Is just a legend of a dreamer

The sense of life
A mystery like stars above
Borderland of mankind's mind

From all directions the warnings are drawning near Close to the bring of ruin $% \left(1\right) =\left(1\right) +\left(1$

It's getting dark and lost souls
Don't know where they belong
Or where they are
Or where they're from

The signs are here
The meaning is clear
We do wrong
We do right

A constant inner fight Look somewhere beyond, look somewhere within
