Point of View

This day, so grey Betray, and decay You said I slay But your mind was so blind

You could never understand My point of view

Despair, beware This nightmare can impair You swore no more But I knew where this was leading to

You could never understand My point of view

Could you