

Everybody Knew But You And Me

Jack Greene

It's so plain to see that we're both happy
And we're both as proud as we can be
Everybody knows we love each other
Everybody knows but you and me
They all say that we're the perfect couple
And they know we never disagree
Everybody know we're true and faithful
Everybody knows but you and me
How can we keep on pretending sharing love?
That's nothing but a lie
Outside we both have smiling faces
While inside we both would like to die
Everywhere we go we're always careful
Of the things our friends might hear and see
Everybody knows our love is lasting
Everybody knows but you and me
Everybody knows but you and me