

She Wakes Me With A Kiss Every Morning

Jack Greene

How lucky I am to have searched for
And found the beginning of the rest of my life
She wakes me with a kiss every morning
And she loves me to sleep every night

Her goal for each day is to find some new way
To please me and keep me satisfied
She wakes me with a kiss every morning
And she loves me to sleep every night

Her love is too strong to let me be wrong
Even when we both know, I'm to blame
And when trouble and hard times are raining
Her love soaks up my share of the rain

She never complains and I've never seen
Distance in her baby blue eyes
She wakes me with a kiss every morning
And she loves me to sleep every night
She wakes me with a kiss every morning
And she loves me to sleep every night
