

Love Is Letting Go Of Fear

Jackopierce

You say there is no other
Who will treat me like you do
But you know the life I want to lead
Seems so, so vile and crude
But for some reason you need me
Perhaps to blow your mind
And I know you hate when I exaggerate
But deep down you're sweet and kind
Why can't we let be? The earth and sky and sea
Are separate entities like them, like you, like me
We won't be happy trying to keep each other down
'Cause love is letting go of fear so let me fly up from the ground
Don't you know that silence, it is an evil tool
For making a break with your cutting rake
Letting it drip into a pool
But don't bring me down with you
Although I know it's lonely down there
Break the chain, break up, break out
You'll know I'll sport the fare
Why can't we let be? The earth and sky and sea
Are separate entities like them, like you, like me
We won't be happy trying to keep each other down
'Cause love is letting go of fear so let me fly up from the ground
Let me fly up from the ground, hey hey
She says she wants to know me
She wants to get inside
She wants to learn the world in me
She wants to understand my pride
She wants to lean on me
When her sky is aflame yet black
She wants to bring me down
I think I've got a primate on my back
Why can't we let be? The earth and sky and sea
Are separate entities like them, like you, like me
We won't be happy trying to keep each other down
'Cause love is letting go of fear so let me fly up from the ground
Why can't we let be? The earth and sky and sea
Are separate entities like them, like you, like me
But we won't be happy trying to keep each other down
'Cause love is letting go of fear so let me fly up from the ground
Let me fly up from the ground, hey hey