Jacob Whitesides

This is the start of something beautiful This is the start of something new You are the one who'd make me lose it all You are the start of something new, ooh

And I'll throw it all away And watch you fall into my arms again And I'll throw it all away Watch you fall, now

You are the earth that I will stand upon You are the words that I will sing

And I've thrown it all away And watched you fall into his arms again And I've thrown it all away Watched you fall, now

And take me back Take me home Watch me fall Down to earth Take me back for

This is the start of something beautiful You are the start of something new
