

Magnolia

Jakalope

Fade, fade away, never let the sun set on your grave
Fade, fade away, never let the sun set on your grave

There comes a time when everyone must chose a side, oh you know eventually your time will come.

If you just set it free set your mind at ease you will find that you can open every door.

Fade, fade away, never let the sun set on your grave.
I remember the rain and thunder would wash away our pain

Your world divides you're pulling in from the tide, everything you know put it aside.
Just let it be, it doesn't come easy, take a chance it's in your hands it's what you need.

Honestly, I just wanna let it out, to finally know what it's all about.

Fade, fade away, never let the sun set on your grave I remember the rain and thunder would wash away our pain