

No Shame

Jakalope

Darkened skies above me weep, precious tears of liquid seep into the cracks of broken ground, cracks dividing then from now.

I picture you and I must ask how you took my soul and tore me down. Hollow man falls and decays into the earth till end of days. (Yeah)

No sanctuary for your broken heart, I left you standing there in the dark. Your time has come, it's come and gone, you're on your knees it won't be long.

You push me down I can't get up, you stifle me you won't let up. Destroyed my hopes, destroyed my dreams, ripped my heart right at the seams

I met you and I became estranged you have no shame. You hung me out now I'm estranged you have no shame. Walk away of course I've changed, you have no shame. Walk away of course I've changed you have no shame. You have no shame