

Angels

Jake Coco

With every little word that you say
I can see you slipping away
And everybody's coming closer
Telling me that this is over
And I can see you slipping away

But I've seen angels turn into sinners
And I've seen summers turn into winters
Singing
Please, take me home tonight
Singing, singing
Please, take me home tonight

With every little thing that you do
Another little lie that comes true
And everything I know is deluded
You make me feel like I'm secluded
And I can see you slipping away

But I've seen angels turn into sinners
And I've seen summers turn into winters
Singing
Please, take me home tonight
Singing, singing
Please, take me home tonight

Home, home, home
Home, home, home

With every little thing that I hear
Another thing that I come to fear
You used to be so pretty, baby
And now I barely know you lately
And I can see you slipping away

Singing
Please, take me home tonight
I'm singing, singing
Please, oh, won't you take me home tonight?
Please, take me home tonight
Singing, singing
Please, please, take me home tonight
