

Every Reason I Go Back

Jake Owen

It's a one way in
It's a one way out
It's a one stop, one cop, one bar town
Where it's eight ball winner breaks, and the loser racks
It's the same ol' cars, and the same ol' trucks, the same ol' coach with the same bad luck
But on Friday nights the home team side is packed
It's every reason that I left, and every reason I go back

Yeah, it's the same ol', same ol', nothin's changed where everybody knows your name
It's a dirt road trip down memory lane, an old flame I can't get past
It's every reason that I left and every reason I go back

It's same ol' questions from my momma's mouth
It's my dad's voice, hey boy, just wearin me out
About yes sir, yes mam this is my house, ya don't talk back
It's the same cheap buddies with the same cheap beer
And the same cheap shots that I always fear
And them same ol' stories still getting same ol' laughs
It's every reason that I left and every reason the I go back

Yeah, it's the same ol', same ol', nothin's changed where everybody knows your name
It's a dirt road trip down memory lane, an old flame I can't get past
It's every reason that I left and ever reason I go back

Yeah, it's the same ol', same ol', nothin's changed where everybody knows your name
It's a dirt road trip down memory lane, an old flame I can't get past
It's every reason that I left,
Oh every reason that I left,
Is every reason I go back

Oh I can't wait to get back
