Face the Sun

James Blunt

Yes, this love's not good enough Is time to let it go Our weary hearts just fall apart, I feel it in my bones

And God knows That it's hard to find the one But in time, All the flowers turn to face the sun

So silently just walk with me, Like any other day No sad goodbyes, no tears, no lies, Just go our separate ways

And God knows That it's hard to find the one But in time, all the flowers Yes in time, All the flowers turn to face the sun

And God knows That it's hard to find the one But in time, All the flowers turn to face the sun