

You're Not Alone

James Durbin

I know your story far too well
And I've been inside your burning hell
Where love is nowhere close to you
And you don't even know yourself

I'll see you inside your fractured heart
And I'll piece together broken parts
Cause love was always meant for you
And now it's time to start

You're not alone
Cause where you are
Is where I'll be
You're not alone
Though you're finally free

Take these arms, they're open wide
Take the wrong and make it right
Cause love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you

Let the weight fall from your wings
And leave behind those painful things
Cause love was always meant for you
Can't you see?

You're not alone
Cause where you are
Is where I'll be
You're not alone
Though you're finally free

Take these arms, they're open wide
Take the wrong and make it right
Cause love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you

Forget all that you think you've seen
With us there ain't no in between
Cause love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you

Take these arms, they're open wide
Take the wrong and make it right
Cause love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you
Love is all I have...

Forget all that you think you've seen
With us there ain't no in between
Cause love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you

Love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you
Love is all I have for you
