

Say Something Now

James Morrison

There's no one outside
It's just the wind blowing trees
Nothing there
Just the sound of guilty leaves
You can feel the cold inside

The rising moon
Looking down like a broken sun
Shining bright
So we can see what we've become
There is nowhere to hide inside

Why won't you say something now
Don't leave me hanging, cut me down
I miss the fire that was once in your eyes
Well come on and say something now

I close my eyes
I see the ghosts you keep within
Once I made them disappear
You know I did
And did I leave you all alone?

Come on and talk to me now
Courtesy of
Or forever hold your peace
It's all got so heavy
Gonna bring us to our knees
Come on and say something now

Say something
Say something
Say something now

Say something
Say something
Say something now

Ooh come on talk to me
Or forever hold your peace
It's all got so heavy
Gonna bring us to our knees
Come on and say something now
Say something to me
Or forever hold your peace
It's all got so heavy
Gonna bring us to our knees
Come on and say something now
Say something to me
Or forever hold your peace
I miss the fire that was once in your eyes
Come on and say something now
