Stolen Horse

Falling, falling into you, Falling, no parachute You lost all self-control, We don't know, Which way you might go, I found a map you left, No use, Can't tell east from west.

Heading out on this mercy trail, You look so strong, Feel so frail, Need a friend in this barren land, All your approaches have failed, Hope you come through.

Falling, falling into you, Falling, no parachute Are you receiving me, Read my lips, A foreign language, I'm not deceiving you, Take my hand, It's a bridge.

Heading out on this mercy trail, You look so strong, Feel so frail, See the world through a preacher's eyes, Now all of your preaching has failed, Hope you come through

Someone has stolen your horse, Hitch a ride 'cause it's far too far to walk. Someone has stolen your horse, Hitch a ride 'cause it's far too far to walk. James
