

Love Vs. Life

Jamestown Story

Hold up is this everything you've waited for, is it something less, is

It something more than what you gave up to get, you so far

Its been awhile since I thought about that day

And its so sad that it had to be this way

Man I loved the stories that you say

Cause its pathetic, don't forget it, cause I know I wont

Don't try to tell me, that you think you know me

Your head's so high I can't hear what your saying

And I don't wanna be there when you fall back down and hit the ground,

But I'll be waiting right here when you do

I've tried to figure out how it went wrong

Should have seen it coming all along

But I thought that you could maybe change

Instead you said goodbye my friend, I'll replace you with fame

It would be nice to hear your sorry (cause I'm sorry)

But I guess that things will never change with you

You're livin in a dream man, wake up while you still can, your friends

Aren't a trash can, so please stay awake oh please stay awake
