

The Touch of Your Hand

Jamie Lawson

Well it bent and it bent til it finally broke
And you meant and you meant every word that you spoke
You were cruel you were cruel but as I understand
I must travel through hell for the touch of your hand

Well I lied and I lied til the truth had grown free
And you tried and you tried to get the better of me
And did it hurt did it hurt when the life that you'd planned
Crumbled and fell for the touch of my hand?

I will love you like you no other
And I will love you for my own
And I will never take another
We will never be alone

I will swallow I will swallow there is in my pride
And I will follow I will follow just to be by your side
And if still you don't love me you've tried but you can't
I'll have done all I could for the touch of your hand

So tomorrow tomorrow the dawn as it breaks
I have begged stole and borrowed each wondrous mistake
And I will swear on my life as I take a stand
I am guilty as sin for the touch of your hand

I will love you like you no other
And I will love you for my own
If you ever take another
We will both wake up alone

I have loved you I have loved you for all that I'm worth
I have done all I could to move heaven and earth
Just to be there beside you wherever you stand
For the grace of your love and the touch of your hand
For the grace of your love and the touch of your hand