

You Are Waking

Jamie Lidell

longtime zombie nothing beating till I met you now it's back and racing and this me wants to grab you one by one lets take it all off one by one lets strip it down
something sleeping
something sleeping inside
and it's all coming out it's all coming out now got so good at building illusions almost believed they were real tried so hard to keep up the facade in the end I just wanted to feel guess I never letcha see the whole picture never let you see the whole of me learnt to live without a heart till 14 years passed in the dark pushed down the pain painted over the cracks but you were not afraid too peel it all back see i've become a stranger to my soul forgotten what I look like underneath it all my troubled soul
and it's all coming out now
