

I Look Up To You

Jamie Lynn Spears

Scared little girl living in a big old world. You've outgrown your room and it all happened way to soon. They took away your innocence, but we forgot our strong defense.....?

So whether you're a blue sky smiling or whether you're a grey sky crying, I look up to you, I look up to you. Whether you're the sunlight shining down or you hide behind the clouds, I look up to you, I look up to you.

How do you repay a love somebody gave? You hold out your hand, I simply do the same. But we won't let it get the best of us, we won't fade away like dirt road dust, cause no matter what love still remains

Whether you're a blue sky smiling, whether you're a grey sky crying, I look up to you, I look up to you. Whether you're the sunlight shining down, or you hide behind the clouds, I look up to you, I look up to you.

Southern days, your silly face, we got our memories they can't replace. No one else can take their place

So whether you're a blue sky smiling, whether you're a grey sky crying, I look up to you, I look up to you. Whether you're the sunlight shining down, or you hide behind the clouds, I look up to you, I look up to you.

Scared little girl, living in a big old world..