

When The Lights Go Out

Jamie Lynn Spears

Somebody had to be the first one to say it's over Somebody had to brake and tell the truth Somebody had to try and be brave n Somebody's gotta take the blame n
Somebody had to leave
I just hate it had to be me

When the lights go out and I struggle with the silence Hunted by the crying til morning comes around but I know someday on the other side of crying it won't feel the way it does right now
When the lights go out

But nobody has the way to make me wonder Make you second-guess the things you left behind
I had to walk away from that revolving door
It only takes me right back to where I was before but who has time for that tell me who has time for that

When the lights go out and I struggle with the silence
Hunted by the crying till morning comes around and I know someday on the other side of crying
it won't feel the way it does right now
When the lights go out

It's going to be okay soon we will both be sleeping safe and sound
When the lights go out and I struggle with the silence
Hunted by the crying till morning comes around
and I know someday on the other side of crying
it won't feel the way it does right now
When the lights go out
