Hot Tequila Brown

Jamiroquai

How many times Can a man watch the sun rise Over his head Without feeling free?

How many words Will fail me in my negligence To arrest, oh yes This crazy part of me?

How many fools Will I let unlock the door to my heart? When I know that, I know that They shouldn't have had the key

It's been so long And the groove in my heart is nearly gone Oh, my head's in the clouds But I'm landing on my feet

Don't shoot me down Sun shine, shine down I'm hot tequila brown Don't shoot me down I'm stone cold but I'm lying here Sun shine, shine down

How many lives Will I lose on the battle lines Inside of my mind? I think I've had enough

Don't shoot me down All I want to see is my black eyes turn back to brown Cross that Rubicon I think I really must

Don't shoot me down Sun shine, shine down I'm hot tequila brown Don't shoot me down I'm stone cold but I'm lying here Sun shine, shine down

Don't shoot me down Sun shine, shine down I'm hot tequila brown Don't shoot me down I'm stone cold but I'm lying here Sun shine, shine down

Don't shoot me down Sun shine, shine down I'm hot tequila brown Don't shoot me down I'm stone cold but I'm lying here Sun shine, shine down Don't shoot me down Sun shine, shine down I'm hot tequila brown Don't shoot me down I'm stone cold but I'm lying here Sun shine, shine down

Sun shine, shine down Sun shine, shine down
