

I Should Mean More

JamisonParker

facing your front door the one you hide behind your fight with bedroom eyes well i proudly wear mine the entrance that i make will fall so short of grand a hopeful knock sounds tired before my hopeful plans you put your hand in mine it fits so perfectly your whispers between kisses show me all that i could be

please make me not so crazy
make me fall apart
make me think beautiful unexpected thoughts
i should mean more

i trace every curve on your precious face and pray some day you'll beg me to beg you run away

please make me not so crazy
make me fall apart
make me think beautiful unexpected thoughts
i should mean more

i should mean more
i should mean more
i should mean more