

Hold Back the Tears

Janet Jackson

So sad, but there's nothin' that I can do Things are so bad, forget every word I've spoken to you Love is when it touches you down inside
Why really are you lookin' for somewhere to hide

You've gotta hold back the tears
Soon you will discover maybe there could be someone who cares f or you
You've gotta hold back the tears
Don't have to say never, love will come to those who are prepar ed

Time will never be on your side
Listen, could be your only chance to survive
This love is waiting to call you home
Don't read you'll ever be on your own

You've gotta hold back...

To give it back
This is all you're ever gonna be Well, is it all worth while There's so much that I want you to see
It could be all worth while