If I come back, if I return
If I can last my fate on this earth
I?ll be baptized, I?ll pray to them all
I?ll lay down in the water
And drown away my faults

Will you think of me then When you?re all alone? Or when you?re with your lover And throwing her a bone

Will you wish it was me Lying in your bed Wrapped around the covers Underneath your breath?

Only one, only one I ever loved, ever loved The only one, only one I ever loved

I?m closing my eyes
I?m biting my tongue
I?m really starting to wonder
Where this heartache came from

I?m lying on the tracks
I?m hearing the train
I?m praying that the Holy Ghost will save me again

Only one, only one I ever loved, ever loved The only one, only one I ever loved

If I come back, if I find you there I?m calling on my daddy and he?ll kill you, I swear He?ll leave you in parts all over the ground Then there you will stay never to be found

Only one, only one
I ever loved, ever loved
The only one, only one I ever loved

Only one, only one I ever loved, ever loved The only one, only one I ever loved

The only one, only one Was I enough? No
