

Finding You

Jared Anderson

A classic game of hide and seek
But I don't seek You I just hide
All this life that reaches in
Through my latest pride

So when I stumble and I fall
When I start to think that every thing's over
You take me by surprise and You open the skies
And You consistently blow my mind
And leave me wondering why

Where did faith come from and how did love break through?
Did You find me here or did I stumble onto You?
Was it grace that made my blinded eyes to see?
I should have been finding You but You were finding me

I've never been the one to pray
For any miracle or moving a mountain
The only thing I failed to see
Was the miracle You're working in me

So when my walk turns to a crawl
When I start to think that every thing's over
You take me by surprise and You open the skies
And You consistently blow my mind
And leave me wondering why

Where did faith come from and how did love break through?
Did You find me here or did I stumble onto You?
Was it grace that made my blinded eyes to see?
I should have been finding You but You were finding me

After the light has dawned
And the darkness has faded away
Will all of my doubts become all but
Taken by the sight of Your face

And I know where faith comes from, I know that love breaks through
I know You found me here when I didn't know what to do
And it was grace that made my blinded eyes to see
I should have been finding You but You were finding me

I know where faith comes from and I know Your love breaks through It's amazing grace my eyes can see
I should have been finding You but You were finding me
I should have been finding You but You were finding me

I should have been finding You but You were finding me
I should have been finding You but You were finding me
I should have been finding You but You were finding me
I should have been finding You but You were finding me
