

A Song About Stars

Jason Castro

There are two stars in my sky
And they both burn with the amber light
When my hope in this world gone astray
Don't you go away

There are two stars in your eyes
Burnin' brighter than ever tonight
But you're gonna go away
But don't, don't look away
All my stars, oh, they're gonna fade
And like the brightest star that I see in the sky
You turn my night into day
Don't you go away, go away
What can I do to convince you to stay, all of my days
Don't you go away, go away

Well, there were two stars in my sky
Like the brightest of them all she had to fall
All I remember is her walking away
She's gone away
But don't, don't stay away
I can't last that long in the world all alone without your flame
You're the brightest star that I see in the sky between the night and the day
Don't you go away, go away
What can I do to convince you to stay
All my days, don't you go away
Go away

Yes she's gone away
I don't, don't want her to stay away
All my days
Wish you come back to me
But she's gone, yes, she's gone
Gone away
