

I Guess She Never Loved Me

Jason Donovan

She said she knew, but she never knew me and when she looked, she was looking through me and when she talked, I don't know exactly behind her smile, was she laughing at me

I guess it doesn't matter anymore
How could she hold, but never hold me
feel, but never feel me
I guess she never loved me at all

She said she tried, but she never made it
The love just died, nothing would have saved it
I was so sure on the day we started
Now I'll never know if it could have lasted

I guess it doesn't matter anymore
How could she hold, but never hold me
feel, but never feel me
I guess she never loved me at all

I guess she never meant all those things
Maybe it's just one of those things
I guess she was fooling me
I guess she was using me

Was she laughing, was she laughing
Was she laughing, was she laughing
Was she laughing, was she laughing
Was she laughing at me
Was she laughing, was she laughing
Was she laughing at me

I guess it doesn't matter anymore
How could she hold, but never hold me
feel, but never feel me
I guess she never loved me at all

I guess she never loved me at all
I guess she never loved me at all
I guess she never loved me at all
I guess she never loved me at all