

Everywhere

Jason Mraz

If thing's ain't a ghost
I couldn't walk into you
If I wasn't the snow
how could I fall for you?
If I wasn't a songbird how could I call you?
If I wasn't a fly on the wall I wouldn't know all about you

I'm everything in everywhere
Can you see me in your own reflection?
I'm deep within the molecules of the air that you breathe
And all the subatomic supersonic spaces in between
I'm everywhere
I'm reaching out in every direction
I believe I'm in your water too cause you act just like you need me
I'm everywhere

If I wasn't the fire
how could you stoke me up inside?
If I wasn't a party
how could you be the life of me?
If I wasn't a camera how could you be so photogenic yeah I said it If I wasn't the hands on the clock would you know that the time was right?

Tonight I'm everything in everywhere
Can you see me in your own reflection?
I'm deep within the molecules of the air that you breathe
And all the subatomic supersonic spaces in between
I'm everywhere
I'm reaching out in every direction
I believe I'm in your water too cause you act just like you need me

I got an eye on a spy on a satellite checking you out I'm like a fly with a hundred eyes
I can see with all my senses and I'm coming to get you I'm invisible expendable and I'm your present

I'm everywhere
can you see me in your own reflection?
I'm deep within the molecules of the air that you breathe
And all the subatomic supersonic spaces in between
I'm everywhere
I'm reaching out in every direction
I believe I'm in your water too cause you act just like you need me
I'm everywhere
I'm everywhere
I'm everywhere
I'm everywhere
