

Echoes

Jason Reeves

I can't sleep without the TV
The silence is screaming in my head
All I know is the way love leaves echoes inside me
To always remind me what I had
What you have stole

You don't know I struggle
No
You don't
You don't know the trouble that you cause me
You don't see it's harder everyday since you went away

Seven days watching the sunrise
Hoping the daylight will drown my dreams
Underneath all the ways you left land mines around me
Forming boundaries I can't see
Follows me

And you don't know I struggle
No
You don't
You don't know the trouble that you cause me
You don't see it's harder everyday since you went away

If you took my heart return it
Until you crossed the bridge you've burned it
Burned it

You don't know I struggle
No
You don't
You don't know the trouble that you cause me
You don't see it's harder everyday since you went away
Since you went away