

Truth

Jason Reeves

The truth is bitter on my tongue
It's trapped inside my lungs
It's running through my veins
Like poison

And I know you feel the same
But someone's in the way
So now I'll never get to say

You're the only one that breaks my soul
And you take a little piece wherever you go
Everytime you leave my heart goes cold
Cause you're the one I love
And you won't ever know

You won't ever know
You won't ever know
You're the one I love
And you won't ever know

The truth is screaming in my eyes
Like a neon sign
Caught beneath the waves of ice

And I tell you everyday
It's easier that way
Cause then I never have to say

You're the only one that breaks my soul
And take a little piece wherever you go
Everytime you leave my heart goes cold
Cause you're the one I love
And you won't ever know

You won't ever know
You won't ever know
You're the one I love
And you won't ever know

I can't tell you
There's no one else
Can't tell you how I felt
Got to keep it to myself for now

I can't tell you
There's no one else
Can't tell you how I felt
Got to keep it to myself for now

You're the only one that breaks my soul
And you take a little piece wherever you go
Cause you're the one I love
And you won't ever know

You won't ever know
You won't ever know

No, no, no

You're the one I love

Things just stay in my head

You're the one I love
