

Face Of Time

Jason Upton

I can remember when I was afraid like you
Not so long ago
Confusion ruled my life wondering what to do
Not so long ago

These are resting waves from a memory
In a hiding place in my mind
But the sweetest taste is a history
When suffering wears the face of time

The pain hurt way too much the water was so cold
Not so long ago
That's when light rescued me from darkness I was free
Not so long ago

In the place of suffering
There's a God worth worshipping
On these wings of worship we will ride
